

DEATH OF ST. JULIANA—FOUNDRESS OF THE MONTELLATE SISTERS, O. S. M.

ASSUMPTION CHURCH — CHICAGO — SERVITE FATHERS

DEATH OF ST. JULIANA FALCONIERI
(1270-1341)

She founded the Servite Mantellate Sisters in Florence in 1305. Through the influence of her uncle St. Alexis Falconieri, one of the Seven Holy Founders of the Servite Order, she consecrated herself from early youth to the religious life.

At her death, unable to receive Holy Communion, the Sacred Host disappeared upon her breast, as a special sign from Heaven of her sanctity. She was canonized in 1737.
